THE SATURDAY CLUB ANNOUNCES 2017 NEW MEMBER INDUCTIONS

18 women inducted into organization at January 2017 meeting

WAYNE, PA – January 10, 2017 – The Saturday Club, one of the oldest women’s non-profit organizations in both Pennsylvania and nationwide, today announced it has inducted 18 new members for 2017.

The new members include Lauren Ainsworth, Tracey Ambuka, Allie Appel, Teela Decker, Audrey Groseclose, Leanne Gallagher, Steph Howard, Amy Dymond Kent, Kari Ann Davidson Kent, Brooke Lawrence, Beth Moore, Debbie Parnes, Cameron Prevost, Sharon Purser, Kimberly Scheetz, Amada Szulinski, Kristen Tirney and Cathy Wozniak.

“We are thrilled to induct such a large and fabulous group of women to our organization,” said Candice Holbert, President of The Saturday Club. “We are confident they will make positive contributions to the Club and help us support our mission of providing philanthropic support to women’s and children’s charities throughout the Philadelphia region.”

The Saturday Club is among the oldest women’s clubs in both Pennsylvania and nationwide. It supports local women’s and children’s charities including Women’s Resource Center, Supportive Older Women’s Network, Fred’s Footsteps and The Radnor ABC House, to name a few. In addition to philanthropy and direct community service, The Saturday Club hosts events for the local community at the group’s historic clubhouse in downtown Wayne.
